Flemming Sørensen made a presentation of the work on developing the new 75 ECTS Business and Data Analytics MA Programme. The working group has come a long way but the work is not finalized yet and there is still room for feedback.

The Study Board took notice of the orientation and had specific questions regarding the language of the mandatory courses and ideas were shared in regard to see to what extent the double-degree students could also see themselves in these courses.

The Board were also curious about the numbers of educators since some of the courses cover a wide range of competencies. And questions were asked to clarify to what extent the courses will include specific examples of the theory's application in practice.
