Punkt 9: Review of the Educational Common Rules at RUC

Revision of RUC's common education regulations (RUC's fælles uddannelsesregler for Bachelor- og kandidatuddannelser) for the study board's consultation.

The regulation has been send out for commenting last month to RUC's study boards. The draft encompasses as many of RUC's study boards suggestions as possible. The Legal Team has determined that some of the more significant initiatives should be addressed in connection with the bachelor's degree reform and the master's reform. The Legal Team will be looking at those changes in 2027.

Appendices:

- overview of the most important changes
- draft of RUC's common education regulations

Punkt 10: Theme discussion of the study environment and integration between NAB and NIB

Postponed from the last meeting.

The Study Board is invited to hold a thematic discussion on the integration between the NIB and NAB programmes, with particular focus on the learning environment.

The discussion addresses key questions such as:

What are the main challenges to integration? What can and should be done going forward?

How should integration be approached in the introductory period, in teaching contexts, and in the classroom more broadly? What is the role and responsibility of the Study Board in this regard?

This thematic discussion replaces a strategy seminar that was originally planned but later cancelled. Instead, the core themes and perspectives from the planning process of the seminar can form the basis for this discussion. Previous discussions of the seminar may therefore be used to inform the debate, including reflections on past experiences, current challenges, and possible future initiatives.

The purpose of the discussion is to create a shared understanding of the issues affecting the learning environment for NIB and NAB students and to identify possible directions for further work, rather than to make concrete decisions at this stage.

A presentation by Ib Ravn on Facilitating the Classroom has been added for inspiration.
