Punkt 8: Reexams

The study board should discuss the challenges with re-exams.

As mentioned at previous study board meeting, there is a mismatch between the students' use of re-examinations and the lecturers' perception of what a re-examination is. This creates a gap between students and teachers, which the study board is asked to discuss how we can reduce together.

Legally, we are required to have re-exams. Students who have either failed, been absent or have been ill are allowed a re-examination in the same exam period.

A proposal for how the study board can discuss the issue:

The study board can start by listing the reasons they hear 1: from the fellow students about why they actively choose the re-exam over the ordinary exam and 2: from fellow teachers who find it a challenge.

The study board can then discuss how we can address or help communication and/or understanding of the positions of both students and teachers.

Punkt 9: Anything else

Punkt 10: Approved minutes
